J. WALSH fur buyer has purchased the following lots of fur in Edmonton within the past week: J. A. McDougall, $227; E. Brouseau, $192; Alex. Hamelin, $78; L. Thompson, $45; Norris & Carey $20. He also purchased a small lot which came from Olds station and about $200 worth at other points down the line.

THE South Edmonton mill is now making Hungarian, patent and strong baker's flour equal to the best imported. The color has a tinge of yellow owing to the large proportion of Lada wheat ground, but the bread rises better and tastes better than Ogilvie's best. The bolting cloth used at first had to be discarded and finer cloth put in, as the wheat is so hard and the bran breaks up so fine that the very finest cloth is needed to take all the bran out. Over ten thousand bushels of wheat has already been purchased by the mill and there is still a large quantity to come in. Mr. Ritchie says the quantity of good wheat in the country exceeds his expectations and he is quite satisfied with the work done by the mill. His brand is "Fort Edmonton."

CHUNG YAN of the Chinese laundry was brought before Mayor McCauley this morning on a charge of depositing hot ashes in proximity to a building contrary to the fire by-law. He pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs. The cause of the complaint was the fact that the ashes thrown out by him had caused the fire at Howe's stable.

The following notices of cancellation of homesteads within 60 days from date of notice have been posted in the post office. The homesteaders have the opportunity of furnishing proof of fulfillment of duties within that time. W. E. Ervine, February 28th; H. T. Reid, 2nd March; D. McKinlay, 8th March; W. F. Mackenzie, 16th March; Murdoch McKinlay, 15th March; Geo. Irish, 20th March; Peter McCallum, 20th March; Walter Davidson, 23rd March.

W. H. CARSON returned from the Athabasca Landing on Friday. The road is good and a large amount of H. B. Co. freight is being delivered, to be taken by steamer to Peace river and the Mackenzie as soon as navigation opens. The steamboat machinery and boiler for the Roman Catholic mission arrived in good order. The rate paid on ordinary freight to the Landing is 1c a pound and machinery 1½ cts. The bridge across the To-wat-a-now creek, which was out of repair, has been fitted with new stringers by A. Coghlan, at H. B. Co. expense. It is now in good order. The Sturgeon and Vermillion bridges are in good order yet. A settler named Bluff has taken land at the Vermillion bridge and keeps a stopping place about 40 miles from town. He is the only new settler north of the Sturgeon. There is plenty of good land north of the Sturgeon, particularly at the Two lakes where there is about a township of open plain of excellent land.

An alarm of fire was given about eleven o'clock on Friday morning and the engine and hook and ladder truck were out promptly. The fire was found to be in W. Howe's stable in rear of the Chinese laundry and near the fire hall. Two horses were in the stable and were got out before the engine arrived. One of them was scorched a little about the head, and had broken loose but was not seriously injured. Almost as soon as the engine arrived the fire was out. Apparently hot ashes from the laundry had been thrown through the manure banking of the stable. The under part of the manure had caught fire and smoldered away until the fire reached a crack in the board wall of the stable, when it got enough air to cause it to flame up inside the manager, and burn the hay in the manger, and scorch the horses' heads. The alarm was given from the fire hall itself by F. Tetu. Had it been at all delayed the horses would have been destroyed. This should be a warning against people throwing out coal ashes promiscuously, as they hold the heat for a very long time.

A. NESSLEY, who was said to have written a letter to his brother in Pullman, Washington, in which it was stated that the snow at Edmonton was three to ten feet deep, that cattle were dying in thousands and that many more would die if there was not an early spring, that a man named Bradner who came from Pullman, Washington had lost $3,000 worth of horses since coming to Edmonton, and that himself and all the Whitman county people who came to Edmonton last fall would return in the spring, called at the BULLETIN office on Friday to say that he never wrote a letter to his brother containing such statements. He wrote that the snow was three feet deep in the woods, which it was at the time, never mentioned stock in any way, and does not intend returning to Washington himself nor does he know of any others who came with him who are going back. Mr. Bradner, with whom Mr. Nessley came from Washington last summer, lost a valuable stallion the night he arrived at Edmonton. This could not be charged to anything connected with the Edmonton climate. He has lost another stallion since but his losses were not due to either cold weather or lack of feed, as he has plenty of hay and is well suited with the country.

A CIRCULAR has been issued by the Winnipeg grain and produce exchange warning farmers against smutty wheat, which declares that the farmers of Manitoba and the Northwest have lost more in past years by smut than by frost. This is probably an extreme statement, but as smut is certainly preventable, while frost is not certainly preventable it is clearly policy for the farmer to prevent what he can prevent and only take chances on what he must take chances on. The following is the remedy suggested by the circular: "Choose the best and soundest seed you can procure, and soak it for ten minutes in brine of the ordinary strength used for pickling pork (that is in which an egg or potato will float) stir the seed well and skim off the light grains, smut balls and dirt, which rise to the surface. Then take out the seed and immerse in a solution composed of one pound of bluestone, dissolved in a pailful of warm water, (for every five bushels of seed to be treated). The seed may be placed in a basket or sack, and plunged into the bluestone mixture, where it should be kept until every grain has been thoroughly wetted. Now, drain the seed, and dust it with lime until the grains are white, and they will dry quickly, while germination will be greatly assisted." The exchange has arranged with the railroad companies in Manitoba and the Territories to carry seed grain for farmers free. For information apply to any railroad agent.

THE South Edmonton mill is now making Hungarian, patent and strong baker's flour equal to the best imported. The color has a tinge of yellow owing to the large proportion of Lada wheat ground, but the bread rises better and tastes better than Ogilvie's best. The bolting cloth used at first had to be discarded and finer cloth put in, as the wheat is so hard and the bran breaks up so fine that the very finest cloth is needed to take all the bran out. EDMONTON BULLETIN, MARCH 27TH, 1893.

TIMBER.

A circular has been received from the office of the crown timber agent, Winnipeg, asking for information regarding the use and abuse of the timber supply of the country. From the tenor of the questions to which answers are requested it appears that the circular has been framed entirely with a view to the case of the prairie sections of Manitoba and the Territories, and therefore does not apply forcibly to the Edmonton district. Where the number of settlers is large and the amount of timber available is small the great point in preserving the timber is to prevent waste by the settlers when taking what they require for their own use, and regulations and restrictions have to be framed and enforced with that end in view. In this part of the country, where the amount of timber available for ordinary use is very large in proportion to the number of settlers, the great danger to the timber supply is not from the amount which could possibly be used or destroyed by the settlers for their own purposes, but from the fires which sweep over large areas every fall and sometimes in the spring as well. Each one of these fires destroys more timber than all the settlers of the country use and waste in a year. So that regulations for the use of timber by settlers which are quite proper in the prairie sections are simply an unnecessary burden in this district, irksome to the people and of no advantage to the government or the country. What is required in this part of the country is some efficient means of preventing or quenching these prairie fires during the seasons in which they occur. What has been done in this line in the way of legislation and enforcement has been very good as far as it went but it has never gone far enough to do much good, even in the settled parts of the country, and in the unsettled districts, where timber is most abundant and valuable, nothing whatever has been done, and losses of millions of dollars worth of merchantable timber have occurred within the past ten years without the slightest effort at prevention or cure. Now that the department has instituted an enquiry into the timber question in the prairie sections it would be a good plan to institute a parallel enquiry in the timbered districts of Edmonton and Prince Albert looking not so much to head off the solitary settler from taking the wood which he requires for his own use, as to find means and take measures for preventing the wholesale destruction of timber which is caused every year by fires, and which threaten to turn regions now covered with valuable timber into open prairies in a few years.

Free Press: J. K. Strachan, secretary of the exhibition association, has received $50 from E. L. Drewry as a special prize for five bushels of two-rowed barley and a similar quantity of the five-rowed variety.

Tribune, Calgary: "Mr. H. W. Nanton received word this morning from James Gadsden, of Schuyler, Nebraska, stating that he will arrive in Calgary on April 6th with a party of about 40 persons from his country. These people represent about $50,000 in cash, and all are a fit-to-do class of farmers. Mr. Nanton who is local agent for the Calgary & Edmonton railway lands, has secured homestead entries for the party near Olds."

The Herald, of Helena, Montana, says: "There is no use of concealing the fact from the public, for it will come out sooner or later, that the cattle on the ranges in Northern Montana are dying by hundreds from the intensely cold weather. Reports from Chinook, Malta, Glasgow and other points east along the Great Northern are to the effect that the mortality will be greater within the next twenty-four hours the loss of cattle from freezing will be enormous. There is no shortage in range feed, but the cattle become cold and 'hump-up' and stop rustling, and as a consequence freeze to death. If they could be kept moving about they might be able to pull through."

CORRESPONDENCE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE BULLETIN.

Sir:—In your issue of the 20th instant there appeared a communication from a correspondent signing himself J. F. K., and finding that no one has so far commented upon or replied to it, I would ask you kindly to insert a word or two from me.

J. F. K.'s effusion presents itself as bubbling over with patronizing conceit and self-complacency, and evidently emanates from the pen of some "Tertius," who has not the slightest trouble in publicly assuming his place with his subjects but calmly sets down wrapped in the cloak of his own boasted ignorance and issues forth valuable instructions for our information and guidance.

The suggestion that the centre points of sections should be located by a surveyor and adjacent settlers forced to pay a share of the survey whether they wish the work done or not savors somewhat of coercion; at the same time this, and the consequent determining of land matter to be located on the side of the river, is about the only glimmering of sense that is to be found amongst the mass of rubbish, and might be worth the consideration of those competent to judge.

The idea of turning the N. W. M. Police into scavengers as a high road to promotion is original and ingenious, but the road would be a rather dirty one, and I think after the services rendered by that body during the past 10 or 20 years, and while engaged in opening up the country, it would be universally recognized, it would be a poor reward to provide for them the undignified duty of hunting the highways and byways for old empty bottles and the fixing up of the old bridges.

Will J. F. K. state who is the "nearest public works officer" who is responsible for "waking up" any who bears the responsibility of seeing that roads and bridges are in proper repair; and by what authority should a policeman order out a settler to make good a road or remove an empty bottle from the road. The settler could probably tell him that it alone "broke that way."

Surely J. F. K. ought to know that the M. L. A.'s for the districts call meetings in the different localities and at these meetings the settlers themselves decide where and how the money appropriated to that particular locality shall be spent; what roads required or made and what bridges built or repaired.

Again, regarding the empty bottles; who on earth is to trace an empty bottle to its source. Does J. F. K. know that a hotel which should place a bottle on three or deadly asterisks from the highway and take it round to all the hotels saying "Look you sell this bottle, and if so to whom?" Even at the party leaving the bottle on the highway is found to be very doubtful, I think, whether there is any law to prevent a bottle being so left.

An empty bottle seems to be an object of great aversion to J. F. K., I wonder if a full one would be equally obnoxious.

As regards crossing the ferry in fall and spring J. F. K. appears to have received the info that he might cross the man whose place it is to go over, sit in the proprietor of the ferry, but not content with this he complains that there ought to have been a detachment of police on hand to attend him.

If there are many more such persons on the way the police and others will have to have their hands full.

The duties of the 100 members of the N. W. M. Police extend over a vast area commencing at Innisfail in the south and ending at the Athabasca district in the north and include outlying settlements and Indian reserves in all directions. The condition of roads and bridges is regularly reported by patrols.

They have yearly rendered excellent and acknowledged service in protecting the property of settlers from prairie fires and in enforcing the game and other ordinances.

Their statistics as to settlers crops stock minerals &c are full and complete and there is plenty of useful information for this handful of men in Northern Alberta to do without reducing them to work in the narrow and petticoated fogging lines laid out by your all-wise correspondent J. F. K.

BAZAAR.

The bazaar held on Thursday afternoon and evening last by the Willing Workers of the Church of England was very successful in display of articles, in attendance and in amount realized, the proceeds being about $300. The bazaar opened at 3 p.m. in Robertson's Hall, which was suitably decorated for the occasion. The articles displayed for sale included fancy work of every description, wool work, lace work, ornamental drapes, Japanese work, paper flowers, paintings, etc., besides a great many useful articles. Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Braithwaite presided over the fancy work, Miss Cook over the paper flowers, Miss Segers over the fish pond, the Misses Alexander over the ice cream, and Mrs. Hothier, Mrs. Kinnaid, Mrs. Bush, Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Randall and Mrs. Alexander over the refreshments. High tea was served at 6 o'clock, and as too great an abundance of tables had been provided the surplus was auctioned off by F. A. Hardisty. The attraction of the evening was "The Mystery" in which eight ladies took part, creating a great deal of amusement.
